standardized testing in the united states has been increasing at a rapid pace in the last twenty five years the market for tests has not only been expanding rapidly but has also been changing sharply in structure into a fractured marketplace indeed one of the main features of this book is that the market for standardized testing is highly fractured with segments of the market facing monopoly conditions others facing oligopoly conditions and still others where near free market conditions exist one of the main premises of the book is that the structures of markets have strong implications for how those markets perform while this notion is widely accepted among economists it is not widely appreciated in educational research a second motivation for the book is that very little scholarly attention has been focused on the standardized testing industry this topic the structure of the testing industry and implications for the quality of tests and test use affects how we evaluate the learning of students the effectiveness of teaching the quality of schools and the educational health of the nation of particular concern to the authors is one vital aspect of test quality test validity this book is the most current and authoritative review and analysis of the market for standardized testing despite its rough and tumble image Chicago has long been identified as a city where books take center stage. In fact, a volume by a J. Liebling gave the second city its nickname. Upton Sinclair's The Jungle arose from the midwestern capital's most infamous industry. The great Chicago fire led to the founding of the Chicago Public Library. The city has fostered writers such as Nelson Algren, Saul Bellow, and Gwendolyn Brooks. Chicago's literary magazines, The Little Review and Poetry, introduced the world to Eliot, Hemingway, Joyce, and Pound. The city's robust commercial printing industry supported a flourishing culture of the book. With this beautifully produced collection, Chicago's rich literary tradition finally gets its due. Chicago by the Book profiles 101 landmark publications about Chicago from the past 170 years that have helped define the city and its image. Each title carefully selected by the Caxton Club, a venerable Chicago bibliophilic organization, is the focus of an illustrated essay by a leading scholar, writer, or bibliophile, arranged chronologically to show the history of both the city and its books. The essays can be read in order, from Mrs. John H. Kinzie's 1844 narrative of the massacre of Chicago to Sara Paretsky's 2015 crime novel Brush Back, or one can dip in and out, savoring reflections on the arts, sports, crime, race, relations, urban planning, politics, and even Mrs. O'Leary's legendary cow. The selections do not shy from the underside of the city, recognizing that its grit and graft have as much a place in the written imagination as soaring odes and boosterism. As Neil Harris observes in his introduction, even when Chicagoans celebrate their hearth and home, they do so while acknowledging deep-seated flaws. At the same time, this collection heartily reminds us all of what makes Chicago, as Norman Mailer called it, the great American city. With essays from, among others, Ira Berkow, Thomas Dyja, Ann Durkin Keating, Alex Kotlowitz, Toni Preckwinkle, Frank Rich, Don Share, Carl Smith, Regina Taylor, Garry Wills, and William Julius Wilson, and featuring works by Saul Bellow, Gwendolyn Brooks, Sandra Cisneros, Clarence Darrow, Erik Larson, David Mamet, Studs Terkel, Ida B. Wells, Barnett Frank, Lloyd Wright, and many more.
